I am very grateful to the reviewers of our paper who spared no effort to guide us in improving not only the quality of the work scientifically but, also in aspects of the final presentation. We have fully agreed with the comments and suggestions made and, we have taken them into account to do our best in the realization of this proposed version, which we hope NAUN will agree to publish. Before submitting our article, we were fascinated by the quality of the scientific papers published in this journal and the references of the members of the Editorial board, which of course confirm the greatness of this scientific journal.

We do advise our different colleagues to submit their original papers in the NAUN journals.
